

painless charting
makes everyone feel better.

The smartest, most effective way to improve the speed and accuracy of your charting.

For doctors, by doctors.

How the T-System Began

There had to be a better way. Dictation was time consuming and expensive. Plain, handwritten records were illegible and incomplete. The T-System was designed to replace those charting methods with a faster, easier and more efficient solution that would work with, not against, physicians in a busy, fast-paced environment.

Benefits of a doctor designed system

Developed by physicians for physicians, T-System tools have evolved over millions of patient visits, incorporating feedback from thousands of physicians and nurses. The result is a comprehensive, easy to use documentation system that many clients now say they can't do without.

Chart market leader

T-System solutions are used by more than 2,000 hospitals, urgent care facilities and primary care practices in the U.S. and abroad. More patient visits are documented using T-System than all other documentation systems combined.

Unparalleled experience as evidenced by ED track record

With more than 2,000 implementations, no other charting solution provider has T-System's experience providing consultation, implementation and ongoing support.

No risk, all reward.

Implementation Costs

Most T-System clients 'pay-as-they-go,' licensing the T-System at a monthly rate determined by the size of the practice. License fees are a fraction of the cost of dictation, and improvements in reimbursement more than cover T-System expenses — even for facilities that currently handwrite charts.

Minimum up-front charges

In many cases, no up-front fee is required to implement the system, minimizing risk to clients keeping a sharp eye on the bottom line. T-System provides training, materials and consultation to get the system up and running, usually within four weeks of a completed license agreement.

Termination at any time

There's no long-term commitment to use The T-System. If it does not help you meet your goals for faster, easier, more efficient charting and improved reimbursement, twenty-four hours' written notice is all that's required to terminate.

A booster shot to your bottom line.

Reimbursement Issues

T-System has been proven to improve reimbursement by up to 30 percent, (Annals of Emergency Medicine, May 1999.) As medical providers are asked to do more with fewer resources, T-System offers an impressive ROI through significant improvements in chart quality.

Better legibility

Incomplete and illegible charts translate to lost revenue. With The T-System, handwriting is minimized and the organized, intuitive layout makes generating a comprehensive chart easier than ever.

Easier coding

Major billing companies have adopted The T-System as their preferred method of documentation. Extracting elements required to support higher levels of reimbursement is fast and easy thanks to T-System's standardized formatting and clear marking conventions.

Built-in CMS guidelines

T-System incorporates CMS guidelines for enhanced compliance, and many clients agree the system is an important part of their overall compliance plan. It supports busy physicians in their efforts to document completely and appropriately.

Refocused Resources

Time and energy focused on patient care

In today's climate of 'do more with less, faster than ever,' urgent care providers are challenged to maximize their most valuable resources—time and money—while maintaining focus on quality patient care. T-System helps do just that. From registration to discharge, T-System benefits providers and their patients through improved workflow, which allows more time and energy for patient care.

A comprehensive treatment plan for your practice.

Implementation and Training

Comprehensive service before, during and after implementation provided by consultants with years of clinical experience helps ensure a successful transition to The T-System. During the implementation process, physicians, nurses, coders and other staff are trained in T-System use, and materials are provided to support ongoing success.

Storage and Shelving Options

T-System offers multiple organization and storage options, including freestanding wheeled units and desktop shelving. Each is designed to streamline T-System use by making template selection quick and simple.

Customizations and Updates

T-System is fully customizable to meet each client's specific documentation needs. Before implementation, consultants confer with clients about everything from suture materials to signature lines, making sure the system incorporates each facility's requirements. In addition, T-System offers ongoing modifications as requested by the site, or in response to changes in CMS guidelines.

Chart Review and Feedback

T-System's Documentation Review Services department is staffed by experienced coders and offers review and feedback of completed charts. Using this information, clients and their consultants can maximize T-System's charting, reimbursement and compliance benefits and identify opportunities for additional training if necessary.
